

STICKER STALKER

"I just want to take a moment to congratulate you on the development of your garden tool. "The Sticker Stalker".

Over the years I have purchased many tools that claimed to be "the best" at removing unwanted weeds from my garden. Well, let me tell you none of these tools can hold a candle to your "Sticker Stalker"!

Your tool has been designed for ease, comfort and reliability! Not only is it efficiently effective at removing weeds, root and all, but is comfortable to handle.

I was able to completely clear an area of almost 4,000 sq ft in about 3 1/2 hours! Then, I was able to utilize the "hoe" edge to furrow for my onions and potatoes in about 30 minutes. Planting was a dream once I'd removed all those weeds & roots.

If anyone needs to hear from the mouth of someone how well this wonderful tool works, feel free to give them my telephone number and I'll be glad to expound on the "Sticker Stalkers'" quality and ease of use.

I've already purchased a couple of them and plan on getting more to share with my family in California.

Did I mention how comfortable the handle is? Well it's terrific! The fiberglass doesn't leave splinters and doesn't get too hot to hold on to!

Bless you for coming up with the idea and having the perseverance to hone this tool to it's completion and quality."

"First of all, let me explain that I am not a native Nevadan. That being said, I am still no stranger to weeds. I have chopped cotton, hoed Johnson grass from corn and sucker tobacco in my lifetime. However, I must say that Nevada has some of the most vicious weeds I have ever encountered. They have absolutely no respect for human flesh.

So last fall when I first had an opportunity to deal with the weeds, I burned them. It looked great through the winter, but now they're back...and with a vengeance.

In the spring I quickly got tired of pulling them up...plus, I was losing the battle and the war. At Fallon Farmer's Market one Tuesday, I passed a booth selling "Sticker Stalker". The only guarantee offered was that it wouldn't work unless I was on the other end.

Now I am convinced that the man responsible for this tool has a place reserved in heaven. Within just 3 evenings, I had the entire back area of the five acres cleared. I just went out in the evening when I watered the horses and worked on the weeds. I now have stacks of dead and dying weeds all over. It barely took 3 hours total. Because the weeds are large, it looks like I did a lot in a short time. And the best thing was that all I needed to do afterwards was wash my hands. I wasn't sore, had no scratches, and my clothes were still clean. I just used the Sticker Stalker to pull up the weeds, turned them over and carried them to my pile by the root. And they aren't coming back.

Now I am getting the goatheads, and they are even easier, because I just pull them up with the Sticker Stalker, throw them in the wagon or bucket...no bending or crawling around and they come up so easily. The clean-up isn't as impressive, but the results are the same...they are gone and aren't coming back.

I think this is the best thing since sliced bread and I would recommend it to anyone. So far I have only encountered one problem. I has a friend come by, and offered to help with the weeds. I let them use my Sticker Stalker which left me to pull then the old fashioned way. BIG mistake!!! Now I have two Sticker Stalkers, so if anyone wants to try one out, I have an extra, as well as an overabundance of weeds to test it. This tool is definitely the best investment I've made in a long time. Now I wonder if he can come up with a tool for the cattail crop (besides a machete).

Well, that's MY story and I'm "Stickin'" to it.

"If Russian Thistle were a cash crop, I would be writing this from the deck of a cruise ship somewhere in the Caribbean.

This year's super wet winter brought on the most incredible emergence of Russian Thistle I have ever seen. My first attempt at killing them off was to spray Roundup, about 30 gallons of it, applied to the plants. The results were about a 10% kill, the other 90% were thanking me for the moisture and laughing. Then I tried one of those hoes that cuts the plant off just below the soil line, leaving the tap root. All that did was create a bunch of plants with a very bad "you tried to kill my daddy" attitude. Crushing them under the wheels of my tractor just brought on the new improved horizontal version of Russian Thistle. I gotta tell you I was getting really frustrated, then I came across your great product.

It took me about a week of spending 1/2 hour sessions now and then during the day to completely erase the Russian Thistle from the 2 1/2 acres I have fenced. The hoe works exactly as you say, and popping the tap roots out is so easy and satisfying. Also, you made the blade narrow enough that I can get in close to my desirable plants and grab the weed without injuring the good stuff.

I have noticed that the other weeds quiver in fear when they see me come out of the shop with my Sticker Stalker. Thanks guys, for a great product. I highly recommend it to everyone! "
